

Ellie Harrison

Ecologist and BBC television presenter (Countryfile)

- Available For:
- After Dinner Speaking
 - Hosting & Presenting

MAKE AN ENQUIRY

About

Ellie Harrison is a geographer and ecologist known for her work presenting wildlife and natural science programmes for BBC1, Channel Five and Discovery. She has travelled to Namibia, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Indonesia to film wildlife for a series - Michaela's Wild Challenge - which earned a BAFTA in 2005.

More recently Ellie has travelled throughout the UK to film wildlife spectacles for BBC1's The ONE Show. She currently presents for BBC1 Countryfile and Discovery U.S.; writes for Countryfile Magazine and fronts BTCV's Spring Into Action campaign.

Ellie Harrison grew up in living off the land in rural Gloucestershire. During her early travels she worked on a farm in Zimbabwe, canoed unguided on Lake Kariba and camped under the dam taking portrait photographs. She spent many wildlife watching trips in both Zimbabwe and Canada before returning to the UK to study Geography at King's College, London, specialising in biogeography and third world political ecology, and winning a scholarship to travel to Zimbabwe for her thesis on conservation development and elephant management.

Ellie spends her spare time watching peregrine falcons, cycling, diving and studying zoology.

Video

Testimonials

We could not be more thankful for all that Ellie contributed to our Graduation day. She engaged in all that we threw at her; with our other Dignitaries, our staff and especially our students. Her speech at the ceremony reached out to the whole congregation, highlighting the support of the parents and sharing her own experiences with our students. Nothing was too much for her and we are even more grateful for her patience and in giving more of her own time so we could photograph her at the college.

Liz Heath - Reaseheath College

TAGS FOR ELLIE HARRISON

Television Presenter

Conservation & The Environment

Animals & Wildlife

Sustainability

MAKE AN ENQUIRY