

Stavros Flatley

Britain's Got Talent finalists - comedy dancers

Available For:

- Live Performances

MAKE AN ENQUIRY

About

Demetrios and Michalakis are father and son and describe their act as two fat versions of Michael Flatly with a Greek element. This act originates from when Demetrios owned a Greek restaurant seven years ago. In the restaurant he would provide entertainment to his customers after their meal. He took centre stage and would perform acts such as Stavros Flatly. His son occasionally visited the restaurant, however he had only heard what his dad did, he never saw the act.

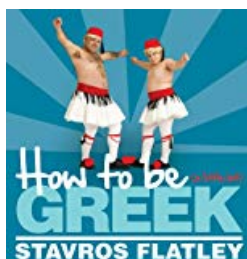

Demetrios noticed an advert for Britain's Got Talent and thought it would be funny to enter. Michalakis said that "if you enter dad I'll do it with you". Demetrios taught Micalakis their routine and he picked up all the moves extremely quickly, considering he'd only ever danced at weddings and parties!

Britain's Got Talent was their first big performance and Demetrios is extremely proud of his son. They both love it and think it's the funniest thing they have ever done together.

Video

Books and DVD's

TAGS FOR STAVROS FLATLEY

Britains Got Talent

Dance

Humour

---

MAKE AN ENQUIRY