

Dan Hunt

Dan coached GB's men to Olympic cycling team pursuit gold at London 2012

- Available For:
- Keynote Speaking
  - Motivational Speaking

MAKE AN ENQUIRY

About

Having completed an MSc in Exercise Science Dan Hunt started work at the University of Bath as an assistant sports scientist. Within 2 years Dan was appointed senior physiologist at a National Institute of Sport. In 2005 Dan was contacted by the Great Britain Cycling Team to transform the then failing Women's Endurance Team.

Through Dan's enthusiasm, leadership, vision, and shared British Cycling values and philosophies, he led the transformation of a failing programme into one that produced 4 Olympic Medals in just two and a half years.

Since Beijing 2008, Dan sustained the success of the women's programme, which for him culminated in 2009, where, in addition to successfully defending the World Team Pursuit title, the team medalled in every World Championship event, including events which Great Britain hasn't been competitive in for over 20 years.

Dan went on to take the role of Senior National Endurance Coach and he coached Great Britain's men to Olympic team pursuit gold at London 2012. In January 2013, he was appointed as Sports Director for Team Sky, taking over from Sean Yates. Dan Hunt was part of Team Sky during its inaugural season in 2010 whilst also working at British Cycling.

Throughout his coaching career Dan has coached athletes (both male and female), in individual and team events to Gold medals at National Championships, Commonwealth Games, European Championships, Track World Cups, Road and Track World Championships and Olympic Games.

Video

Testimonials

Would recommend Dan very highly, fantastic feedback for the session and want him back again. He delivered a quality session, exactly what we wanted.

Consulting Services Provider

TAGS FOR DAN HUNT

Sport

Strategy & Competitiveness

Peak Performance

Olympian

Cycling

Olympics London 2012

Teamwork

---

MAKE AN ENQUIRY