About

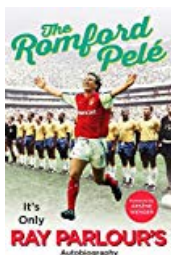

Ex England and Arsenal footballer Ray Parlour is known as 'The Romford Pele'. He formed part of Arsenal's 1998 and 2002 League title and FA cup double winning sides and was a key player in Arsenal's 'invincibles' 2004 league winning side. In June 2012, he was one of several former professional footballers to join Wembley FC to play in their FA Cup campaign for the new season.

Ray Parlour is very successful in the media and public speaking world. Ray works for BBC TV, Sky Sports, Radio 5 Live & TalkSPORT. He has also become one of the most popular after dinner speakers on the circuit, entertaining the crowds with anecdotes and stories from his Arsenal and England days.
