About

Lettice Rowbotham made quite an impact when she first auditioned for Britain's Got Talent 2014. Lettice brought the violin up to date with her beautiful and unique versions of contemporary pop songs. She sailed through to the live finals and wowed the judges.

Violinist/Singer Lettice Rowbotham and Producer/DJ Fenna Rhodes performed for the first time together at Glastonbury, where they electrified the crowd and discovered a unique chemistry.

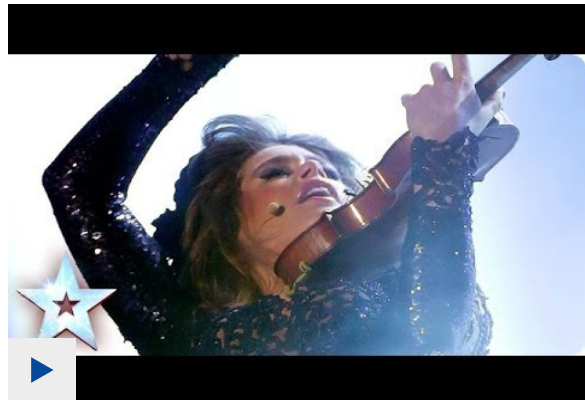

Lettice has performed as a solo violinist with some of the biggest names in music. From Radio 1 live lounge in Maida Vale, being a finalist in Britain's got Talent, with residencies at La Folie Douce in Val D'Isere & The Arts Club in Dover Street, palaces in Venice, to the beaches of Barbados... there's no style of music or stage she can't tackle and no audience she can't entertain.

Fenna has performed over 1000 shows internationally from Fortresses in Transylvania, to Trafalgar Square, Lovebox, Parklife, with residencies in Camp Kerala, Verbier and across his home town of London. Whether at a festival stage, basement club or intimate event, his eclectic sets range from the perfect chill to an explosive atmosphere. He has produced and released 3 albums with various artists and a host of singles and remixes in a broad range of styles from Funk & Dance, to Hip Hop, Soul, and DnB.

They are now working closely together on new material together and making sparks fly with their explosive live show.

Lettice Rowbotham and Fenna Rhodes are available for performances at private and corporate events.
