About

Dancing dog duo Lucy Heath and Trip Hazard stormed through to the live final of Britain's Got Talent in 2016 as the public wild-card vote during the ITV show's 10th anniversary series.

Professional dog trainer Lucy Heath and her tiny companion Trip Hazard, a two year old crossbreed, received standing ovations from the judges and audiences for all three of their routines.

Lucy's personal dog training passion is heel work to music and she has a huge interest in competitive dog sports. As such she's won many high profile competitions with her Red Merle Border Collie, Indie. They've appeared on television, radio, in magazines and newspapers along with Lucy's four other highly trained dogs; Trent — a Smooth Collie, Ash — Blue Merle Shetland Sheepdog, Foxy — Red and White Border Collie, and of course Trip Hazard.

Aside from media appearances, they've performed all over the UK from smaller dog shows at public events and schools, to huge arena shows at Earls Court, London, and the NEC in Birmingham.

Just a few of their accolades include:

Trip Hazard - Britain's Got Talent finalist 2016, won Superdogs Live at both the London Pet Show and National Pet Show 2015, performed in Beauty and the Beast panto for Polkadot Pantomimes 2015.

Indie - Won ITV's That Dog Can Dance, Advanced Heel work to Music and Freestyle. 4 x Crufts Finalist, won Superdogs Live at both the London Pet Show and National Pet Show 2014, won Crufts Factor 2014, performed in Beauty and the Beast panto for Polkadot Pantomimes 2015.

Foxy - Won Superdogs Live at the London Pet Show 2016.

Ash - Intermediate Freestyle and Grade 4 Agility.

Trent - Qualified for Crufts Obedience as part of team Smooth Collie.

All five dogs are great at working with people and other animals, and they know hundreds of different behaviours. Lucy also has two dog-loving, partially trained cats - Jamie, a tabby cat and Littlepuss, a tabby point Siamese.
